

INTRODUCTION: 65725 is a light gray, friable breccia collected as a rake sample (Fig. 1). Gray, crystalline clasts (up to 5 mm) and a subordinate amount of white, anorthositic fragments are abundant. It is subangular with rare zap pits.

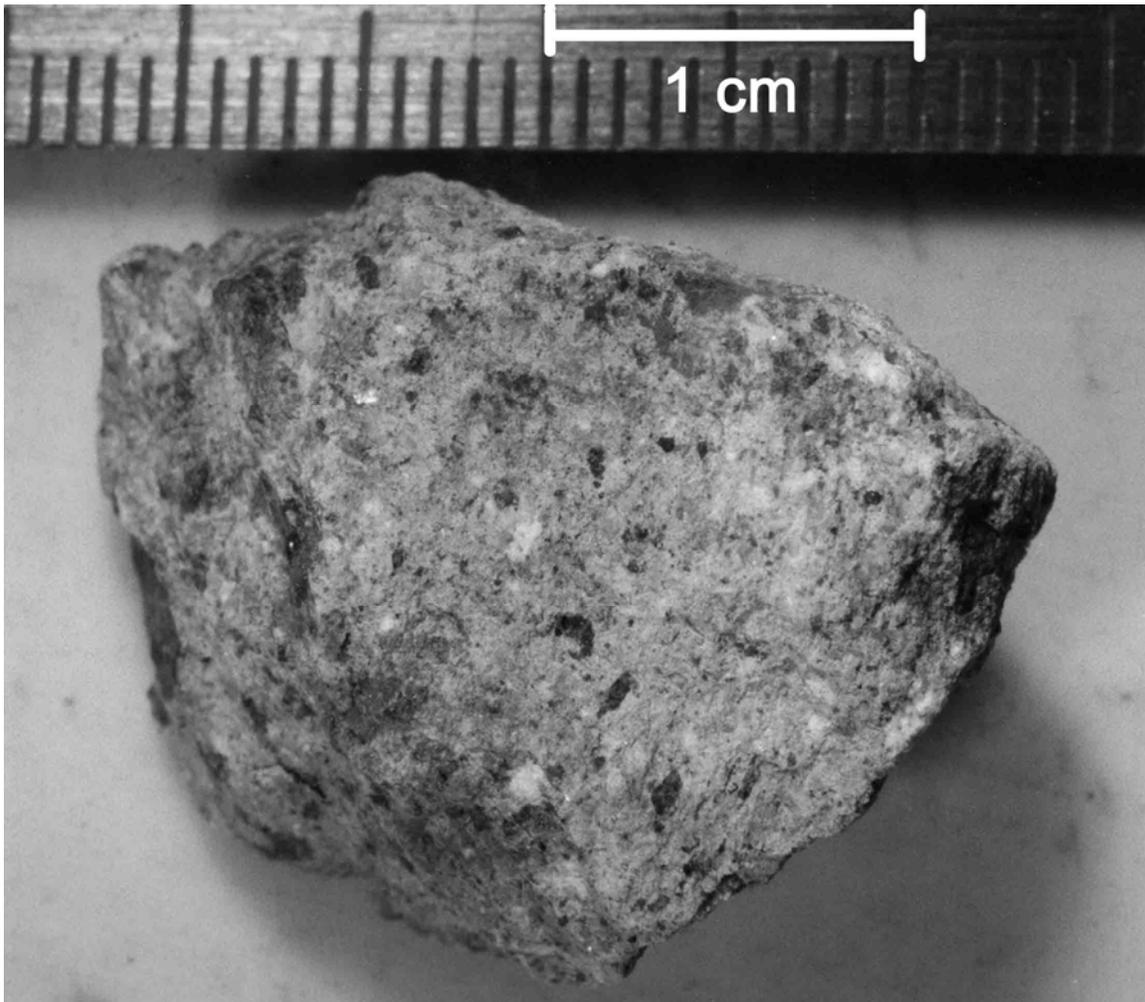

FIGURE 1. Smallest scale division in mm.