

INTRODUCTION: 65726 is a light gray, friable breccia collected as a rake sample (Fig. 1). Medium and dark gray crystalline clasts (up to ~5 mm) and a subordinate amount of white, anorthositic clasts are abundant. It is subrounded with a few zap pits.

FIGURE 1. Smallest scale division in mm. S-72-47684.