

INTRODUCTION: 66085 is a pale gray, very friable breccia (Fig. 1) with many small dark and light clasts. It was taken from a soil sample collected on the inside wall of a 10 m crater, and is too friable to have retained zap pits.

FIGURE 1.